Educational Technology Strategic Thinking Seminar for Virginia Administrators

The seminar is entitled "Designing Thriving Schools - A Strategic Thinking & Planning Process." It is designed to provide educational leaders with current information on the latest technology tools and education strategies. The seminar's goal is to identify tools, strategies, and enabling technologies that division administrators can implement to accelerate learning. For specific information (including time and location in Richmond, Virginia) and to register for the all day Sprint seminar on strategic thinking and planning, please contact Wanda Williams via email: Wanda.Fritz@mail.sprint.com.

Virginia is one of three states to be selected for this national seminar sponsored by Sprint. The seminar is a part of their professional development program for the State ASP contract. The keynote speaker is a former education administrator and national presenter on strategic thinking and planning. The seminar will be held March 11, 2004 in Richmond, Virginia.

For specific information (including time and location in Virginia) and to register please contact Wanda Williams via email: Wanda.Fritz@mail.sprint.com.
