

2012

The VA Chapter of CEFPI Annual Conference | February 27-28 | Roanoke, VA

JOIN US

The Virginia Chapter of the Council of Educational Facility Planners International (CEFPI) invites you to join us as we assemble expert presenters who will provide diverse viewpoints along with practical advice--all aimed toward helping you establish and maintain schools that are active, effective learning communities. The conference is a statewide event that draws attendees from school districts, universities, and design firms across the mid-Atlantic. This year's conference aims to challenge and enlighten, with keynote and breakout sessions that will explore BEYOND THE THREE R'S.

DESIGNING BEYOND THE 3 R'S

Featuring Keynote Speaker Jamie Vollmer, author of Schools Cannot Do It Alone, Presenting: Welcome to The Great Conversation: Increasing Public Support for America's Public Schools.

- Pre-Conference Workshop: The Future of Libraries/Media Centers in K-12 Schools
- General Session: Bodies in Motion – Brains in Motion: Better Learning in an Enriched Physical Environment
- General Session: A National Perspective on STEM Education
- State of Virginia Perspective and Albemarle County Experience, with Dr. Pam Moran, Albemarle Country Superintendent of Schools and others

Other notable features of our 2012 conference include:

- Examples of both new and renovated alternative education and STEM facilities constructed in Virginia
- Sustainable design considerations
- Discussion panel of Renovated vs. New Construction to address facility needs
- Architectural Exhibit and Competition
- Building the Next Generation of Architects: Design Challenge for Architectural Students
