Past participants have shared the following in their evaluation of ASP:

"The Aspiring Superintendents Program provides an environment where individuals with similar goals may better evaluate their long-term career aspirations. This is accomplished through quality experiences with various stakeholders in the field of educational leadership. The value of these candid conversations, in conjunction with the interaction and engagement within the cohort cannot be measured."

"The Aspiring Superintendents Program allowed me to explore various facets of the Division Superintendent role as I consider whether or not to pursue a division leadership position in the future. By participating in the program I was able to gain a greater understanding of my own leadership strengths and practice methods used to foster effective communication and build positive relationships with stakeholders I encounter daily in my role as a building principal. It was a wonderful experience and I would recommend the program without reservation!"

"The Aspiring Superintendents Program is an exciting opportunity to network with fellow leaders interested in developing their skills for future educational experiences. The expertise of the presenters provided insight into the multifaceted role the superintendent plays in the school division and community. I would highly encourage all administrators to participate in this rewarding program."
